

Demographic dividend of international migration in OECD countries

Published on February 8, 2019 – Updated on February 15, 2019

Dates

on the February 8, 2019

Focus on Resarch

OECD countries

Demographic dividend of international migration in Macroeconomic evidence suggests that international migration produces a demographic dividend in OECD countries by increasing the share of the workforce within the population.

Read the blog in French\(/zoom-sur-la-recherche/dividende-demographique-des-flux-migratoires-dans-les-pays-de-l-ocde--117450.kjsp?RH=1505391225734\)

About the authors

Hippolyte d'Albis

Director of research at CNRS, professor, École d'économie de Paris

Ekrame Boubtane

Associate professor, Université Clermont Auvergne, CNRS, IRD, CERDI, F-63000 Clermont-Ferrand, France

Dramane Coulibaly

Associate professor, Université Paris Nanterre, researcher at EconomiX

Reference

D'Albis, H., Boubtane, E., Coulibaly, D. 2019. "Immigration and public finances in OECD countries", Journal of Economic Dynamics and Control, 99 (February), 116-151.

<https://doi.org/10.1016/j.jedc.2018.12.003>(<https://www.sciencedirect.com/science/article/pii/S0165188918303920>)

Open access until February, 24, 2019 :_(<https://www.sciencedirect.com/science/article/pii/S0165188918303920?dgcid=author>)<https://authors.elsevier.com/a/1YLONbZqAozom>(<https://authors.elsevier.com/a/1YLONbZqAozom>)

<https://cerdi.uca.fr/english-version/news/news/research-focus/demographic-dividend-of-international-migration-in-oecd-countries>(<https://cerdi.uca.fr/english-version/news/news/research-focus/demographic-dividend-of-international-migration-in-oecd-countries>)