The next speed searching will take place in the Cerdi-School of Economics Library on November 21, 2019.

All students are welcome to chat with each PhD student for 7 minutes. They are free to ask any advice or question on their university background, the doctoral study, or their research topic, etc.

This month, the theme is human capital (gender, education, migration, and labour), and our guests are:

- Hugues Champeaux: Emancipation and Women's position in developing countries. Supervisors: Martine Audibert, Francesca Marchetta and Delphine Boutin.
- Elsa Gautrain: Endogeneity of household composition, migration, and women's emancipation. Supervisors: Simone Bertoli and Flore Gubert.
- Eric Dago: Civil conflict and human capital in developing countries. Supervisor: Catherine Araujo-Bonjean.
- Claire Ricard: Gender and family investment in education in Morocco: differentiated gains of the education effort. Supervisors: Martine Audibert, Francesca Marchetta and Fouzi Mourji.
